VIENNA, AUSTRIA
19 – 26 AUGUST 2026
INCLUDING TRAVEL DAYS!

BACKGROUND AND CONTEXT

The youth exchange “ECOuprising” was created in response to the urgent need to empower young people to build a greener, fairer, and more sustainable future.

Across Europe, climate change, pollution, unsustainable consumption, and biodiversity loss are challenges that directly affect young people’s lives. Many are motivated to act, but they often lack practical tools, international cooperation, and spaces where they can turn their ideas into meaningful action.

ECOuprising brings together participants from seven countries to explore sustainability and climate action through non-formal education, teamwork, and hands-on learning. The project creates a space for young people to reflect on environmental challenges, exchange good practices, and discover how local initiatives can contribute to wider social change. By combining ecological awareness with creativity, intercultural dialogue, and active participation, the youth exchange supports the development of green competences, leadership, and a stronger sense of responsibility for their communities and the planet.

The programme is built around two main dimensions: one part focuses on understanding sustainability, climate responsibility, eco-anxiety, and active citizenship, while the other focuses on developing practical eco-solutions, community initiatives, and everyday green habits.

EXPECTED GENERAL LEARNING OUTCOMES:

- Strengthen environmental awareness and practical action competences by exploring biodiversity, greenwashing, circular economy, responsible consumption, climate change, and human rights through experiential learning;
 - Improve resilience and emotional wellbeing by understanding eco-anxiety, reconnecting with nature, and practising reflection methods that support emotional regulation and positive climate engagement;
- Develop teamwork, intercultural communication, critical thinking, and European solidarity through peer learning, debate, collaborative activities, and cooperation in diverse international groups;
 - Build leadership, initiative, and active citizenship by enabling participants to design practical Action Plans and implement sustainability initiatives in their local communities.

THEORETICAL KNOWLEDGE

- Understand key sustainability topics—including biodiversity, climate change, greenwashing, circular economy, responsible consumption, and human rights—and connect them to everyday life.
- Explore the relationship between environmental challenges, eco-anxiety, mental wellbeing, and active citizenship, while learning how local action contributes to a sustainable Europe.

PRACTICAL SKILLS

- Learn through interactive board games, Land Art, sustainability simulations, study visits to urban-greening initiatives, peer exchange, and structured reflection.
- Develop practical skills in teamwork, communication, critical thinking, problem-solving, project planning, and the creation of community-based environmental Action Plans.

PERSONAL GROWTH & LEADERSHIP

- Strengthen emotional resilience, confidence, and wellbeing by addressing eco-anxiety, reconnecting with nature, and practising reflective methods.
- Become active multipliers who lead local sustainability initiatives, inspire peers, and transform learning into meaningful action within their communities.
